GETTING IN HOT WATER

With energy costs going through the roof and old water heating systems operating at low efficiency levels, it is no wonder why Colmac Heat Pumps are being installed throughout the islands this year. Major hotels and condominiums are now upgrading 15 to 25 year old heat pumps systems with the new and more energy efficient Colmac models that have been redesigned with more energy efficient compressors, heat exchangers and evaporators. The new Colmac's also are available with PLC Controls that monitor performance and provide operational data and trouble-shooting sequences on an LCD display. These "next generation" heat pumps have been designed and manufactured specifically for Hawaii's harsh environment. They include stainless steel cabinets, coated evaporator coils and controls and safety switches that are designed to extend the life and reliability of the equipment.

The Waikiki Banyan, Kukui Plaza, Plaza at Moanalua, Kam Middle School, University of Hawaii, U.S. Navy, Nuuanu Park Place and Park Shore are just a few of the recent Colmac jobs awarded. Visit our Colmac Booth at this years PCEA Conference in Waikoloa or call to set up an appointment to meet with a Colmac engineer in September.
